“Some areas of our space were getting pretty loud, and it started to make everyday communication harder and more distracting than it should be. We knew we needed something to help with the noise, but we didn’t want to sacrifice how clean and organized the space looked.

All Noise Control installed the ANC-17 and they fit right in with the space. The soundproof, noise reducing curtains helped lower the noise without making the area feel closed off or limiting how we use it.

Since these curtains were installed, the difference has been obvious. The space feels calmer, conversations are easier to hear, and it’s just more comfortable to work in overall. The ANC-17 system gave us better sound control while still looking great.”
