"Our food production lines run continuously, and the HVAC systems and piping created constant noise and vibration. It was affecting worker focus and making it harder to maintain the right conditions for production, plus heat loss and condensation were adding more complications.

All Noise Control's ANC-B10LAG Wrap Barrier gave us a simple, effective solution. It dampens the vibration and blocks airborne noise while also providing thermal insulation and condensation control. Now, our production environment is quieter, safer, and more efficient, and the product's durability makes it perfect for indoor applications."
