“In medical device manufacturing, precision and communication are everything. In several of our controlled production environments, we noticed that reflective wall surfaces were contributing to higher ambient noise levels from ventilation systems and equipment. After installing the All Noise Control Cleanroom Wall Panels, we experienced a measurable improvement in sound clarity and overall acoustic balance within the room.

The panels integrated seamlessly into our cleanroom infrastructure. The smooth, non-porous surface supports our sanitation protocols, and the modular installation allowed us to upgrade the space without disrupting operations. Since implementation, our teams have reported improved communication across workstations and a more comfortable production atmosphere. The solution aligned perfectly with our performance and compliance standards.”
