“In our food production facilities, sanitation and operational efficiency are non-negotiable. However, hard wall surfaces and stainless equipment were contributing to elevated sound reflection throughout certain processing areas. After installing the All Noise Control Cleanroom Wall Panels, we immediately noticed a reduction in echo and a more controlled acoustic environment across the room.

The panels integrate seamlessly with our hygienic standards. Their smooth, non-porous finish allows for routine washdown procedures without compromising durability or performance. Since installation, communication between team members has improved, and the overall workspace feels noticeably more balanced and comfortable. The solution delivered both compliance and performance—exactly what we require in our production environments.”
